

AUNT LOUISE'S

WEE WEE STORIES

A stands for Arabian, with Neptune
to guard ;

All saddled and bridled, the pet of
our yard.

B for the Bees, that fly out here
and there,

And bring to the hives the sweet
honey with care.

C for the Cows, in the shade of the trees ;

They are chewing the cud, and seem
quite at their ease.

D for Ducks, swimming, and playing together ;

They care not for rain nor the storm-
iest weather.

E for the Eggs, which we find in
the nest ;

They still feel quite warm, from the
hen's downy breast.

F are the Fowls : the hens and the
cocks.

Take care, my fine birdies, beware of
the fox.

G is the Goat, with two kids young
and gay ;

They run to their mother, then scam-
per away.

H is the Horse, so sleek and so
strong ;

He draws the hay-cart to the meadow
along.

I is the Island, where Johnny doth
wish
To sit on the bank, in the summer, and fish.

K are the Kittens, that live in the stable ;
They will catch all the mice as soon
as they're able.

L is for Lucy, who waits at the
stile,
And puts down the pail, for she's resting awhile.

M is the Milk, which is good, Pussy
thinks,
And so, uninvited and slyly, she
drinks.

N stands for the Nuts ; and when
lessons are done,
Two boys can go nutting much better
than one.

O for the Owl, that prowling at
night,
Steals chicks from our barn in the quiet moonlight.

P for some Pigs, which have strayed
from their sty,
But of course will return there to bed
by-and-by.

Q stands for the Quince I have
plucked from a tree,
To flavor the tart Mary's making
for me.

R for the Rabbits, white, spotted,
and gray ;
Just see how that little one nibbles
away.

S for the Sheep, with their coats
of soft wool ;
They stand in the meadows so pleasant and cool.

T for the Turkey, who stately doth
sail,
With long sweeping wings and a
wide-spreading tail.

U stands for Ursula, and V for the Vine
That yields her fine clusters in harvesting time.

W for Wheat, and for Whitey, the Calf,

Who nibbles away at the grain and
the chaff.

X means on a Banknote, Ten Dollars, 'tis clear ;

On a barrel, it stands for the strength
of the beer.

Y stands for our Farm-yard, where chicks love to feed

On the oats, and the barley, and other
good seed.

Z is for Zachary, shutting the gate ;

So Good Night, little children ; it's getting quite late.
